

Bramuglia Gives Berlin Formula To Big 4 Powers

Argentine Sources Say Proposal Covers Three Points; No Indication Given How West, Russia React to Plan; Currency Pact May End Blockade

Paris, Nov. 29 (AP)—Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia said today he had sent to the Big Four powers his newest formula for settling the Berlin blockade crisis.

Argentine sources said the plan covers three points:

1. Bramuglia, as November president of the Security Council, would appoint an expert commission to study the Berlin currency issue.

2. The Security Council would recommend lifting the Berlin blockade, its full implementation to coincide with the introduction of the Soviet mark as the German city's sole currency in accord with the commission's finding.

3. An explanatory communication by Bramuglia on behalf of the six smaller powers on the Council, which are pressing for the compromise.

Argentine sources said the timing of the whole proposal was not yet fixed definitely. It is possible that Dec. 30 would be the deadline as the expert commission's goal, it was said.

Russia blocked Berlin in June after the western powers put their reform currency in the city. Russia vetoed a previous neutral powers attempt to compromise the issue.

Bramuglia said he wanted to launch the new plan and have it considered by the western powers and Russia before the Argentine's presidency of the council expires at midnight Tuesday.

Argentine sources did not say how the west or Russia received the new idea. Andrei Vishinsky, deputy Russian foreign minister who talked with Bramuglia last night, asked a clarification of some translation difficulties during the morning.

Bramuglia received representatives of the U. S., Britain and France before noon and conveyed the plan to them.

American, British and French leaders have indicated they would lend all possible assistance to the neutrals in studying the currency problem.

The western powers have agreed to accept the Soviet mark as Berlin's sole currency if it is under adequate four-power control. The two sides have been unable to agree thus far on what would constitute adequate control.

An agreement on currency might result in solving the problem of the Russian blockade of Berlin.

Russia has said she is willing to lift the blockade if the Soviet mark becomes Berlin's currency at the same time. The western powers have refused to negotiate with the Russians on currency while the blockade is in effect, declaring the blockade represents Russian duress.

Belgian Security Council Ferni and Van Langenhove will take over the Security Council presidency December 1 under the council's system of monthly alphabetical rotation of the post.

Armed Services May Get Social Security

Washington, Nov. 29 (AP)—Proposals for a broadened Social Security program—being submitted to the White House today—reportedly would bring soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines under the civilian old age pension system.

Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing had the proposals drafted. They might cost $1,000,000,000 if approved by Congress.

Among other things, Ewing asks a sharp boost in the amount of pensions and survivors' benefits paid under the system.

East Coast Docks Are Busy Again as 18-Day Strike Ends

Longshoremen Work on Sunday; Union Chief Says All Busy Today on Cargoes

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—East coast docks hummed with activity today after a paralyzing 18-day strike of longshoremen.

New York's waterfront resounded to the familiar clatter of pier trucks and escalators yesterday as 2,200 men reported for Sunday work following settlement of the strike.

And a union chief said all 45,000 longshoremen and 20,000 clerks and handlers would be working today in ports from Maine to Virginia.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the A.F.L.-International Longshoremen's Association, also predicted "peace along the waterfront for a long time to come."

There were new prospects of peace on the strike-bound Pacific coast also.

The four major Pacific coast ports—Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco—longshoremen voted to end the 89-day old maritime strike.

Longshoremen's locals in the San Francisco, Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles areas approved the new pact, and smaller locals were expected to follow suit.

Much still remained to be done, however, before the Pacific coast waterfront could be reopened.

As the shipping blockade was lifted along a 700-mile stretch of the Atlantic coast, the picture in the hard-hit port of New York was made even brighter by settlement of a week-long strike of 2,000 of the city's truckmen in a pay dispute.

The Atlantic coast longshoremen's strike, which had paralyzed shipping and slowed down many dependent industries, came to an end when the I.L.A. dockers voted nine-to-one on Saturday to accept a peace formula.

The men won several benefits, including a 10 percent increase in day-shift straight-time pay to $1.88 an hour and an increase of 19 1/2 cents in the night and weekend overtime rate to $2.82 an hour.

The I.L.A.'s latest demand had been for increases of 25 and 37 1/2 cents.

The settlement terms had clear sailing through I.L.A. locals in Manhattan, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, Virginia and other ports.

But four locals in Brooklyn and one in Jersey City, N. J., voted to reject them.

Yesterday, however, a spokesman for a rank-and-file group in Brooklyn said its steering committee had decided to advise the men to return to work immediately.

I.L.A. leaders had called the Brooklyn opposition a Communist-led movement.

Battle Switches to Nanking; Washington Is Cool to Visit

Mission Is Seen Short Of Success

Full Courtesy Will Be Given Madame Chiang but Not Much Else Officially

U. S. Doesn't Wish to Put Kai-Shek on Spot, Yet Lacks Confidence

Washington, Nov. 29 (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's arrival here this week is expected to touch off a fresh drive to get the United States to underwrite China's war against its Communist foes.

Authoritative informants said today that as the Chinese president's wife she will be shown "every courtesy," but they made clear privately they have little sympathy with Madame Chiang's unofficial mission.

This attitude has been openly shown in the hands-off policy the State Department is taking to follow as far as possible in dealing with her trip.

In announcing Saturday night that she would travel here in a U. S. naval transport plane the department emphasized that it "was made available" at her request.

There was no expression of welcome and no official word on arrangements which might be made to expedite her mission after the scheduled arrival Wednesday.

The fact is, Madame Chiang's trip dramatizes a dilemma in which Secretary of State Marshall and President Truman presently find themselves in connection with the Chinese crisis.

On the one hand, according to responsible informants, they wish to avoid any word or action which might embarrass the Chiang government in its struggle with the Communists.

And they are hopeful some way may be found by which the United States can help to prevent a Communist conquest of all China.

On the other hand, the administration leaders appear to have lost all confidence in Chiang's ability to reorganize his military and political strength so as to halt the Communist tide and eventually reverse it.

Feeling thus, they apparently consider it impossible for the United States to underwrite Chiang's war with an all-out aid program which would involve an estimated expenditure of several billions of dollars over the next few years.

Some authorities speculate, however, that if the United States became deeply involved in the Orient struggle it might eventually be confronted with a decision on whether to send American troops to fight there.

Will Use Points
While Madame Chiang's approach to the problem remains to be fully disclosed, most experts here believe she will build her case for American aid primarily on two points:

1. That the Chinese National government is waging no more than a "civil war" against the elements of its own people but also carrying on a greater struggle against Communism in behalf of the United States and all other anti-Communist countries.

2. That the United States has an obligation, as well as an opportunity, to turn the tide for Chiang by supplying the help he has requested.

In recent days the Chinese Nationalist press has been carrying on a propaganda campaign to the effect that the Yalta agreements this country made with Britain and Russia—by which the Soviets gained certain Manchurian railroad, port and base rights—were originally responsible for Communist successes in the northern provinces.

Kingston Man Is Shot Accidentally
Leonard P. Ward, 45, of this city, was accidentally shot in the abdomen by his own high-powered rifle shortly before 7 a. m. Sunday, state police at Highland reported. He is in serious condition at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, police said.

At the hospital this morning, authorities reported that Ward showed slight improvement since last night.

Ward, who is married and the father of two children, resides at 193 Foxhall avenue, this city. He is employed by Half Moons Farms, Clinton Corners.

The accident occurred off Route 9W north of the Highland State Police barracks. State police reported Ward was found lying under his own truck with a bullet hole in his side, and nearby was found a high-powered rifle which had been discharged.

The wounded man was taken to Vassar Hospital by ambulance, and state police from downstate were called in to make an investigation. They concluded the shooting was accidental.

Apparently Ward, who was alone when found, was traveling along 9W in a Half Moon Farms dairy truck, either parked the truck to continue his hunting trip on foot, or had sighted a buck along the highway, state police said. The gun evidently discharged as he was loading it or as he stepped from the truck, according to the report. Standing beside the truck is Trooper N. G. Leakes, Highland Barracks. (Ken Roosa Photo)

Truckmen Return To Their Jobs in Manhattan Area

Work Resumes, Balloting Still Goes On in Regard to Two Proposals

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Two thousand city truckmen returned to work today after being idle for a week in a strike that tied up an estimated one-third of the city's trucking industry.

The drivers and helpers, members of local 282, A. F. L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters, yesterday were ordered to return to work this morning.

The men will not know until tonight what their new pay will be, because voting on two alternative wage proposals which began yesterday will continue tonight.

Local 282 President John J. O'Rourke announced that work would be resumed today although the balloting was incomplete.

When the polls closed for the day yesterday, 723 of the 3,500 eligibles in the local had voted on whether to accept a straight increase of 22 1/2 cents an hour or 17 1/2 cents with welfare and insurance benefits.

The truck operators already had agreed to accept either of the plans.

Continuance of the voting today was ordered by Theodore W. Kheel, director of the city's labor relations division, so that a wider vote could be gotten.

Kheel said the straight 22 1/2-cent increase—which all parties expected to be chosen—would mean an average wage rise of 89 for a 40-hour week. He said the average wage since 1946, when local 282 concluded its last contract, has been $63 a week.

The wages for drivers and helpers have ranged from $53.90 to $71.40 for a 40-hour week.

Kheel locked up yesterday's ballots, and the trend will not be known officially until completion of the voting.

Local 282 reached agreements with a number of employers during the strike.

Senator Would Put Check On Big Corporation Profits

Washington, Nov. 29 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) served notice on a "few giant corporations" today he aims to put double check-reins on their profits—higher taxes and federal price and ration curbs.

"I don't want to re-enact O.P.A.," he told reporters, "but I do want to control the present regimentation of prices and rationing of products by concentrated private interests."

O'Mahoney did not single out any corporation by name but he said those dealing in basic commodities, such as steel, "are in a position to fix their own prices and distribution." In this way, he said, most items needed by the average family are subject to a corporate rationing system.

Nationalist Troops Are Diverted

Engagement's Outcome May Depend Entirely on Withdrawal of Men at Suchow

May Leave Stocks
Suchow Officials Fear Leaving Big Supplies Unguarded

Nanking, Nov. 29 (AP)—The critical battle for central China appeared today to be shifting from Suchow to the very approaches of this Chinese capital.

It was learned reliably that the estimated 250,000 Nationalist troops at Suchow, defense bastion for Nanking, have been ordered to withdraw southward to engage the main Chinese Communist forces.

The outcome of the entire battle for Nanking may depend on the ability of the Suchow garrison to make the withdrawal. The Reds are concentrating in the areas of Suhsien and Pengpu, rail cities on Nanking's approaches.

There has been no indication that the withdrawal order is being carried out—as yet—although it was made several days ago. Suchow still is getting supplies by planes, which are taking out wounded.

Official sources later confirmed issuance of the withdrawal order. However, Nanking observers suggested that Nationalist commanders at Suchow are reluctant to leave the "tons of munitions and supplies that have been stockpiled there in the past several months."

Should Suchow commanders ignore the orders from the capital—and continue to leave idle the largest body of troops left to Chiang Kai-Shek—the Reds will be free to polish off other, smaller units one by one, and attack Suchow whenever ready.

China's small navy assigned six patrol boats to guard the Yangtze to prevent any Communist infiltration across the vital river.

The battle for Suchow has raged three weeks. Its abandonment would indicate that the government regards as more critical the developing struggle in the 211 miles between here and Suchow. Earlier reports from the fronts indicated that the Communists have left secondary troops to engage Nationalists within the Suchow perimeter.

The main red strength of nearly 500,000 troops was reported heading south toward Pengpu, 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

Suhsien Is Held
The Communists already hold Suhsien, 45 miles south of Suchow. An estimated 140,000 government troops—regarded as inferior to those at Suchow—oppose the Reds at Suhsien.

Further southward, and mostly in the Pengpu area, are another 50,000 Nationalists.

If the estimates of the opposing sides are about correct, the urgency of withdrawing Suchow's defenders to help government forces to the south appears clear. The Reds seem to hold more than a 2 to 1 numerical advantage over the government on the road to Nanking.

The Red armies of generals Chen Yi and Liu Po-Cheng have been edging steadily southward from the Suchow area.

Amid these developments, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's president, sped toward the United States in an American navy plane to plead for immediate help.

China's new premier, Sun Fo, also looked to Washington in an interview. He urged appointment of an outstanding American military advisor to China—someone like General Douglas MacArthur or Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, wartime commander of the China Theater.

Says Morale Higher
Associated Press Correspondent Roy Lissay reported Sunday from Suchow that morale of Nationalist soldiers was higher than those of troops he had seen before. Not only did the wounded look better fed, he said, but they were happy over their speedy evacuation. Chinese commercial airplanes flew more than 2,700 wounded to Nanking yesterday. Another morale booster: Soldiers were being paid in silver for the

CHRISTMAS JOTTINGS

Our town is strung with Christmas lights
And stores are smartly dressed
The shelves and counters offer sights
That give us Christmas zest
Last year I bought a lot of things
Too late to choose at all
I purchased robes and rugs and rings
And much I can't recall
My feet were tired and as I shopped
I said "This Christmas Eve
Next year, I do believe,
I'm starting now to look around
But time is hard to spare
And days for buying still abound
Do why rush here and there?
You know the way to do it
On Christmas Eve I'll rush to buy
The gifts my friends have spun.

By RADER WINGET

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Holding in a narrow range, the stock market moved along quietly.

A few selected industrial issues pushed up around a point, and here and there some others lost about the same amount, but for the most part the price changes were in small fractions with a number of leaders unchanged.

Steels, oils and motors at one time were on the higher side, but the slight gains in some cases were turned into similar sized losses as the session progressed.

Rails and metals were the most highly mixed of any of the major groups. Aircrafts were irregular and inactive.

Today's almost dead center type of trading was a continuation of the Friday and Saturday markets which ended unchanged on average, and marked a three-day plateau after the losses preceding the Thanksgiving holiday.

Higher at times were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Bendix Aviation, General Motors, Schenley, Anaconda, Gulf Oil, and American Wool.

Dipping to the minus side were Boeing, Douglas, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Mission Corp., and Atlantic Coast Line.

Steady with most of the leading issues unchanged the greater part of the time. Among these were Burma Ltd., Cities Service, Niagara Hudson Power, Ogden Corp., Pancoast Oil, and Schulte. Keeping a little above the line were Kaiser Frazer and Electric Bond & Share.

Survey Discloses Business Is Good

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Business as a whole is still good despite signs of weakness in several important directions, an Associated Press survey of strategic regions showed today.

Business leaders studied anxiously such straws in the economic wind as these:

- (1) A decline in department store sales.
- (2) Scattered shutdowns or layoffs by small companies.
- (3) Easing agricultural prices.
- (4) Some business expansion plans either cancelled or postponed.
- (5) An uneasy inertia in textiles and other soft goods.

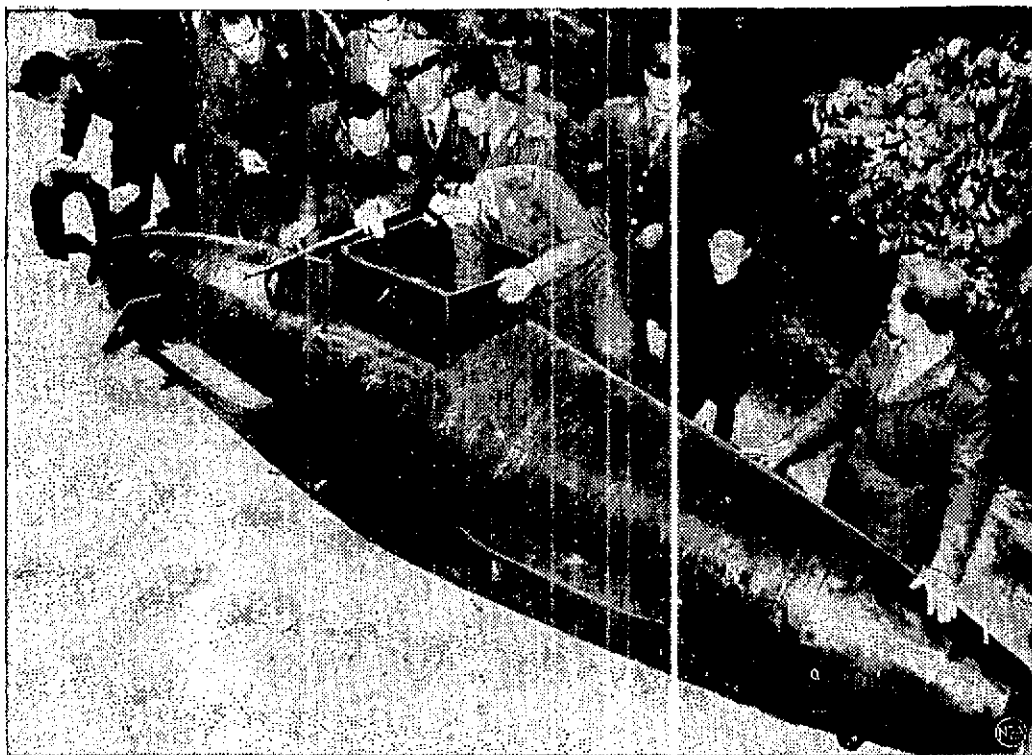

The question was: Are these real danger signals this time? Or are they false alarms, like the one which early in 1947 and again at the beginning of this year caused recession worries?

A check of the business pulse in six regional areas of the nation showed a mixed trend. Layoffs, for example, were becoming more frequent in New England and the Middle Atlantic States—but employment was still swinging upward in the southwest. Prices were easing in the south, but still edging higher in the midwest.

Ruins Are Found

Moscow (AP)—The ancient city of Ural mentioned by Pliny has been discovered. "Evening Moscow" said the Bosphorus Archaeological Expedition, using the writings of Pliny, unearthed remains of the city about ten feet below the surface in a hilly area not far from Kerch, in the Crimea. The ruins of Ural are now being talked of as a "Kerch Pompeii". The discoveries are said to be the most historically significant found in many years in Russia.

SAY SMUGGLERS USED HALF-PINT 'PIG BOAT'

Frontier police at Varese, Italy, examine a 13-foot, pedal-powered, midget submarine captured on Lake Lugano. Police suspect smugglers used the craft, built from old beer barrels, to carry contraband between Switzerland and Italy, but have no proof. But just the same, they held the builder, 25-year-old Lorenzo Cattoli, on a charge of building a ship without Ministry of Marine permission.

89th Birthday Marked by A & P

Boston, Nov. 29—Plans to expand its store modernization program and further its efforts to reduce the costs of food distribution were made by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company today, as the food chain observed the 89th anniversary of its founding.

In honoring George Huntington Hartford who, in 1859, opened the first A. & P. store in New York, the company declared that savings brought about by efficient methods of food distribution will be passed along to customers.

Lawrence M. Cazayoux, president of the A. & P.'s New England Division, in recognition of the event, has outlined a program for extensive modernization of store facilities, expansion of specialized personnel training, and a furtherance of freshness-control procedure as a means of eliminating costly waste.

"The company will do its utmost to bring about further reductions in the handling and distribution of foods for the benefit of our consumers," said Mr. Cazayoux.

More than 100,000 A. & P. employees are joining in the observance of the company's anniversary. In 1859 the first store was opened in New York city. It was the first company to pioneer the chain-store system through which goods can be economically distributed.

For the past several years A. & P. has concentrated on the development of modern supermarkets designed to minimize shopping time and offer housewives the convenience of one-stop shopping centers. The modern, streamlined stores with their self-service features are the most efficient food outlets in history.

"The plan for modernizing our retail store facilities," said Mr. Cazayoux, "is another step in our constant efforts to bring food to the consumer in better condition and at a decrease in cost. This is made possible through modern handling methods which eliminate waste through spoilage and improper handling."

New Zealand produced nearly 85,000 tons of butter in the last year.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 29, 1948

BEING USEFUL

The first stage in a comeback was made this fall by ex-Senator Hugh B. Mitchell of Washington. Defeated for reelection to the Senate in 1946, he has now been elected to the House of Representatives. Presumably he hopes that his success may ultimately lead to the Senate, perhaps in 1952, when his successful opponent's term expires.

He might, however, make his new office the beginning of an important career. There is the precedent of Representatives James W. Wadsworth of New York, who was beaten in 1926 after 12 years in the Senate. Since 1933 he has been a congressman, and one of the half dozen most distinguished members of the House. In the Senate he might have been just one of many.

John Quincy Adams held almost every office which the nation could tender, culminating in the presidency. Yet his greatest work was done after he left the White House, during 17 years in the House of Representatives. His successful battle for the right of petition, challenged by an arrogant majority party, is a landmark in the history of American liberty.

The House needs more men who have had governmental experience elsewhere. Many may hope that Mitchell will set his sights by Wadsworth and Adams, and forget about the Senate.

A $2,500,000 official home has been talked of, although not seriously, for the vice-president. If the object is to make the vice-presidency more desirable, it could also be furthered by giving the occupant something worth while to do when the Senate is not in session.

A WORD FOR IT

Announcing publication of a new desk dictionary, the head of the Funk and Wagnalls Company remarked that the preparation of a new dictionary is a long and hard struggle with the inventors of new words and the staunch friends of old ones. New inventions, new discoveries and new ways of life create needs for new words, and old words often lose their usefulness. One of the trials of a lexicographer's life is in deciding what of the new should be accepted as standard, what of the old should be discarded.

There is another major headache which the dictionary-makers should have, if they don't. That is the bringing of more common sense and order into the language. Far too many words have multiple, unrelated meanings. Spelling rules are so many, and the rules so beset with exceptions, that it is small wonder some people abandon the effort to learn them and resolve to face life with the explanation: "I just can't spell!"

Language development is seldom the result of deliberate effort, but more often is a slow process of spreading usage. In the relatively short span of American history the language has changed so much through usage that now there is a distinctive American language, different in many respects from the language of England. Other changes, which we now wonder why someone doesn't make, also will take place as time goes by.

"Those who have the heaviest stake in the country," wrote the British historian, Lord Acton, "are those for whom misgovernment means not mortified pride or stunted luxury, but want and pain." This truth is sometimes forgotten by politicians, but seldom by the voters.

GOVERNMENT-OWNED PUBS

State ownership is moving on in Great Britain. The latest is to be government ownership of that time-honored British institution, the public house. The government already owns 300 pubs, and has found them profitable. Now the proposal is to have government-owned public houses in the new towns being built by the state.

Even the most ardent advocates of government ownership in the United States have not suggested publicly owned saloons, though the dispensary plan once in vogue in South Carolina approached it. State monopoly of sale of liquor by the bottle is common. Apparently the British idea is to start

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

MME. CHIANG KAI-SHEK

It has been announced that Madame Chiang Kai-shek is planning to plead personally her country's cause in Washington. Although there are many slips between a plan and its implementation, I write about it hurriedly because that particular lady, having reached a decision, is likely to be here before the ink is dry on this article.

Madame Chiang is a product of American education and in that sense is as American as any girl who, after school, buys a Coke at a corner drugstore. I first met her after she returned to China from Wellesley where she studied. But it was not at Wellesley that she captured the nature of America. As a young girl, she was sent by her parents to Macon, Georgia, to stay with Bishop Ainsworth of the Southern Methodist Church, and to receive her pre-college work in our schools.

Her father had spent a good part of his life in this country, particularly in the South. An extraordinary man, Charles Jones Soong had started his career on the United States Revenue Cutter, Colfax. He was baptized in the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Wilmington, N. C., and had studied at Trinity College, which is now Duke University. He returned to China, with a theological degree from Vanderbilt University in 1885, as an English teacher. A man of action, he established a printing house in Shanghai to publish Bibles; he was on the organization committee of the first Y. M. C. A. in China; he eventually became secretary and treasurer of the revolutionary movement, to liberate China from the Manchus, headed by Sun Yat-Sen.

Mel-Ling Soong, now the wife of President Chiang Kai-shek, possesses many of her father's qualities: she is a woman of strong convictions with a great capacity for decisive action; she is a brilliant English scholar, using the language with color and precision; she is deeply, sincerely and movingly religious. And she has always been loyal to her second home, the United States.

The lady is witty and her sharp response to a phrase often surprises because it is unexpected. She and Harry Truman should get on well together, particularly if they are ever able to talk outside of protocol. They are both experts in giving them hell, in which art the President has beyond doubt proved himself. Madame Chiang can paint a picture of the world effect of a defeat of China by Soviet Russia in language accurate and pungent.

This is something that ought to be known: when Chiang Kai-shek was a young man, he studied military science in Japan, and later, for a short time, in the Red army schools in Russia. The strongest influences upon him, particularly during the revolutionary days from 1924 to 1927, were Russian and Communist. In fact, when he started out, he was at the head of the Whampoa Military Academy, a Red army school near Canton, and he became the head of the revolutionary army through the support of the Russians who were then seeking to conquer China.

Chiang's renunciation of the Russians and the Communists was his own. It came out of his realization that a foreign country was seeking to seize his country by what was then a novel device, but has not become standard throughout the world. It was, however, after his marriage to Mel-Ling that he came to know of the Western world, of America, of Christianity. She brought into his life an intimate and close appreciation of our ways.

When Madame Chiang was here in the war years, the smear machine was active in its miserable attacks upon a fine and brilliant woman. Some were particularly nasty in the realm of gossip usually reserved for the ladies of the movies. None of it was true. President and Madame Chiang found affection and admiration in courtship and marriage and in a mutual labor for their country. Perhaps some were surprised that the lady does speak up, disappointing those who expect the shy, frightened stereotype of the silent Oriental spouse. In the first place, the stereotype is false, because Chinese women are not very different from our own; and in the second place, Mel-Ling Soong was reared in this country, Americans can readily take her for a fellow-countrywoman. That Body of Yours

MENTAL PATIENTS

Just a few years ago it was estimated that within 50 years, one-half of the world's inhabitants would be needed to look after the other half, as this other half would require mental care. This was a most discouraging outlook.

Since the above prophecy was made, World War II has come and gone; and large numbers of veterans now require mental help. On the other hand, since that dire prophecy was made has come the great forward step of the treatment of mental patients by the shock method—insulin, metrazol and electric.

What are the facts and figures insofar as our veterans are concerned—men who were naturally nervous and emotional and men who were apparently cool and non-emotional before entering the service? In the Veterans Administration department in the "Journal of the American Medical Association," we learn that more neuropathic (mental) patients now are discharged from the hospital than are admitted. This, we learn, is due to improved techniques in the care of the mentally ill. From July, 1947, to April, 1948, 1,060 more mental patients were discharged from the hospital than were admitted.

One of the great helps in preventing overcrowding of mental hospitals is the establishment of out-patients' clinics, where early mental cases can report for treatment just as they report for treatment for rheumatism or any other ailment. Thus patients, whose mental symptoms though mild are quite active and are pointing toward the need of care in a mental hospital, receive treatment that enables them to live at home until they have improved mentally to the point where they can resume their previous employment. Where mental hospital treatment is necessary to rehabilitate the veterans, the use of insulin and electric shock treatments, together with the usual methods, now bring brilliant and permanent results.

New managers have been named for many baseball teams whose work was disappointing last season. In some major league cities a new baseball manager stirs up more interest and comment than a new mayor.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Pearson and Congressmen

It looks as if Drew Pearson could carve another notch in his scalping knife when it comes to taking the hair and hide off Congressmen. Close on the heels of the indictment of Congressman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey as a result of Pearson's expose, ex-Congressman Roger Slaughter of Kansas City has been indicted for failure to register as a lobbyist.

It was Pearson who told how Slaughter paid a provision in the farm bill prohibiting the government from renting more grain elevator space, which in turn prevented the government from giving many farmers parity prices on grain. Pearson kept harping on this, and also calling to the attention of the Justice Department Slaughter's failure to register. In fact, he was indicted.

Washington Democratic Senator-elect Bob Kerr of Oklahoma couldn't resist good-natured ribbing when he breezed into town the other day for his first meeting with the President since the election.

"You Democrats did a great job in Missouri," said the hefty, six-foot-two Oklahoman. "As that big victory vote you turned out was really inspiring. Of course, it wasn't quite as big as the victory margin we polled in Oklahoma."

"Yes, I know all about it," chuckled Truman. "But did you notice the Congressional gains we made in Missouri? We knocked off eight Republican Congressmen in the House of Representatives. There's only one Republican left in the Missouri delegation." "Hmmm," mused Kerr. "You say that Missouri still has one Republican Congressman? Very unfortunate. In Oklahoma we made a clean sweep, electing all Democrats to the House. Maybe we could give you Missourians some pointers."

"Just give us a little time," countered Truman, with a grin. "We're working on it." Note: Out of 13 Missouri House members, the only Republican who survived the election was Dewey Short. Democrats swept all eight House seats in Oklahoma, including two formerly held by Republicans, plus the Senate seat of Republican Ed Moore, whom Kerr succeeds.

U. S. Veers Toward Monopoly

Scarcely a line appeared in the newspapers, but every business man should read the warnings to American business given before the House Small Business Committee by Morris Ernst, brilliant New York attorney.

Although Ernst blasted the dangers of monopoly, he also warned against government controls, on the ground that the government "will get too big and (as in Russia) do an inefficient job." Once the government starts taking over business there will be no stopping, Ernst declared, because "it will be afraid of criticism and will take over the most precious business of all in America, that of getting access to the minds of the people: radio, movies and the press."

"Big business itself is blazing the trail for 'statism,'" Ernst charged, by its unpoliced monopolies, adding that mergers today are the highest in 15 years.

To stop the dangerous trend, Ernst urged Congress to begin breaking up the big insurance companies, chain stores and other monopolies, just as we have broken up utility holding companies and chain banking.

Revamp Commerce Department

At the same time, declared Ernst, the "mandate" of the Commerce Department should be rewritten by Congress to make that department the servant of 500,000 small free enterprises instead of the servant of 400 big concerns "that control one-half of the resources of the United States."

Ernst contended that the dismembering of monopolies was not only good democracy, but good business for everybody, including the big firms. He cited innumerable studies, showing that the prime motive behind a monopoly was power—not profits. As a monopoly increases in size its efficiency and profits both suffer.

"The fact is very definitely proved that earnings before mergers were 18 per cent higher than in the first year after the mergers," Ernst told the Small Business Committee.

"And after 10 years, the earnings did not even equal the first year's earnings."

"Another study was made in 1935," he said, "showing that 19 large steel companies lost $19,000,000, while 129 small ones earned $6,000,000."

"But that is not the question," concluded Ernst. "The question is that the power in the market place is such that the big boys will eventually squeeze out the little men—particularly the profitable ones."

"The big chains have sold, by and large, at 6 per cent under the local grocer, and temporarily it looks like a saving to the people. But they have destroyed a lot of local grocers by going in and selling eggs temporarily at a lower figure and then boosting it later."

Gets Shale Gas

Moscow (AP)—Leningrad has received its first gas through a pipe line leading to the Estonian shale fields. The immense Estonian shale deposits thus have been put to work to make the northern city less dependent on coal hauled from long distances away in the Donbass. Tass, announcing this development, praises it as an accomplishment of Soviet technology. The Soviet news agency states that every last bolt and nut in the whole pipe-line and in the compressor stations as well as in the factory which extracts the gas from the shale was made in the Soviet Union. The Soviet news agency also claims that this is the first time gas has been extracted on commercial scale from oil shale and that this was done by Soviet technicians despite predictions of capitalist technicians that the project would not be successful.

Thesis Is Building, Judged on Democratic Utterances, That Wallace Supporters Won for Truman

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 29—Did the supporters of Henry Wallace win the election for President Truman? No such question would even have been asked two weeks ago, but judging by the way some Democratic leaders are beginning to interpret the election as a decided turn to the "left," a persuasive case now can be built for the thesis that the Wallace campaign drove Mr. Truman over to the "left wing" and that the Wallace supporters were so pleased with the position taken by Truman on public issues that they went back to the Democratic Party and failed to vote for a third-party ticket.

Dr. Gallup and others who studied political trends in past elections were virtually agreed last summer that if the Wallace ticket were not in the field the contest would be a "horse race." The supposition that the Wallace vote would be large started in June but gradually the estimates were diminished and had the polls been continued until the day before election instead of being stopped two weeks previously, the almost complete evaporation of the third-party vote would have been discerned.

Since the margin was narrow in many states, the Wallace vote was still enough to give New York state to Dewey but just enough on the other hand to turn Illinois to Truman, because no place was afforded on the Illinois ballot for a Wallace vote. In California the Wallace vote fell far below expectations and was predominately pro-Truman in the end. Given a choice as between Truman or Dewey to Wallace, voters chose Truman.

To interpret the mandate fairly, therefore, a Henry Wallace faction must be credited with a major part in the victory—unless, of course, it turns out that Mr. Truman did not mean what he said on the stump. Examining the Wallace campaign from pre-convention days and also the third-party platform proposals which were publicized widely among the radical left it will be found that restoration of the excess-profits tax, the drive for more subsidies to special groups and for public ownership of important industries were demands which the Wallace campaign emphasized. When Mr. Truman started in the autumn his campaign against Wall Street and the "greedy interests," he soon was making the "left wing" speeches of the class-warfare type than Wallace was making.

On the labor issue, the Wallace supporters wanted the Taft-Hartley Act destroyed and a one-sided law depriving management of all its essential rights put on the statute books. There is every indication that the Wallace supporters will now gain their point, including the elimination of the anti-Communist affidavit requirement which had been aimed at Communist influence in labor unions.

On international relations, Wallace won his major victory. He cried out during the campaign that military men were dictating American foreign policy and that a conciliatory policy toward Russia had been abandoned. Then, at a dramatic moment in the campaign, Mr. Truman decided to curvy favor with the critics of his foreign policy. He was ready to bypass the United Nations and, without consulting his secretary of state, was arranging to send Chief Justice Vinson to Russia on a peace-making mission.

When General Marshall protested, the plan was dropped temporarily but the President in his speeches in the latter part of the campaign indicated that the idea might be revived at any time. This was pleasing news to the Wallace supporters who flocked to the Truman standard in the last few days of the campaign. Undoubtedly the general news is on his way out of the secretariatship of state.

Mr. Wallace can console himself with the thought that while he did not poll many votes for his ticket he did poll many a third-party candidate has done before.

Influence the course of one or the other of the major party candidates.

Today many Democrats who were inclined before election to favor a middle-of-the-road policy on economic issues are talking radical. They talk as if Mr. Wallace was their true leader. They are talking as Phil Murray of the C.I.O. talks, as if the risk-capital system must give way now to a government-regulated economy and that the profits of industry either must be taxed away or handed over to the workers in the form of higher and higher wages. If President Truman concludes that the close election of November second means that he got a "mandate" to restore the one-sided Wagner Labor Relations Act and the excess-profits tax and to extend the government's authority over the national economy, the third-party radicals will be vindicated. In all fairness, then, Henry Wallace—whatever his intentions really were—should be given credit for having influenced not only the outcome of the election but the course of economic history in America for years to come. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

My discussion of the opportunities for moral leadership which invite the men of Notre Dame and West Point evokes the comment of Clifford B. Ward, the editor of the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

This could be made a bout of pot-boiling repartee, but we can serve a better purpose and I am sure he prefers that.

Speaking of Notre Dame men, I only observed that they had no corps record of distinguished performance in public life. No corps record at all, good or bad. Some individuals may have honored their school in public affairs, but if a large number had, Notre Dame would have as fine a reputation in politics, meaning the science and work of government, as she has in football. She might have renowned mayors, governors, senators, noted for their honor and character.

"I am a Notre Dame grad," Mr. Ward writes, "which may or may not be an excuse for Notre Dame to blush. I am also a Catholic. Any appraisal of my virtues and vices is principally a matter for recording angels. But I can't follow you in the reasoning that, because Pendergast, Hague, Kelly and Curley may be civically and politically sinful, Notre Dame is somehow culpable."

I can't follow the reasoning by which Mr. Ward thought I held that Notre Dame is to blame for these sorry fellows, but let us bear him out.

"Certainly you cannot expect me or any other Catholic to assume responsibility for the waywardness of other Catholics. I have known thousands of the completed product of Notre Dame and, although they are not eligible for canonization, generally, I'll defend their general reputation against responsibility for fellows like Pendergast, Hague and Curley."

This is a challenge, I say yes, the Hugues and Pendergasts, Curleys and Kellys should be shunned, not cultivated or honored, by the clergy or laity and should be yeaed down not only. However, it was not intentional to dwell on the wrongs which these four men have committed against the integrity and health of our government. My wish was that Notre Dame had produced some alumni as good as these fellows have been bad.

Here are four politicians, two of them convicted criminals, and a whole lot of fellows for political evil and disintegration. All were implicated in a vast corruption of the personal morals of millions of people through a notorious contempt for truth and justice in government.

Special Mail Buses

Make First Trips

Newark, N. J., Nov. 29 (AP)—Two special mail buses make their initial runs today, linking Newark with Wanaque and Middletown, N. Y.

The buses, first use in the east of specially equipped vehicles to sort and deliver mail, will serve communities which are not on regular train stops.

The first bus, which leaves Newark for Middletown at 8 a. m., carries for its run, only first-trip covers—cancellations prized by stamp collectors.

The first run to Wanaque leaves a half hour later with the same mail cargo.

Sorting bins and cubby holes are part of the bus equipment. The mail is sorted enroute and dropped off as the buses pass through designated towns.

The buses are designed to relieve a situation in which mail on trains which did not stop at certain communities had to go beyond its destination and later be returned.

The post office department said the buses have been successful in the midwest.

The buses will serve 23 New Jersey communities and five in New York state.

In his spare time he hunts game to provide Christmas dinners for German kids, who will be guests of the army's German Youth Administration. Talkington already has bagged 11 deer this season. Last year he got 22 and the year before 39. German's can't hunt deer because they are forbidden to possess firearms.

Wedding Is Held

Alexandria, Va., Nov. 29 (AP)—Miss Meredith Howard and Rep. Richard F. Harless of Arizona were married Sunday after two postponements of the wedding. A series of mishaps caused the wedding to be postponed in Knoxville last month and later in Tulsa. Rep. Estes Kefauver, Democratic senator-elect from Tennessee, and Mrs. Kefauver were the only attendants. After a visit to the bride's sister, Mrs. Theodore Hays, in Mexico City, the couple will divide their time between Phoenix, Ariz., and Washington. Rep. Harless is a Democrat. about the influence of a sly, devious clique of lawyers from Harvard in the national government. Felix Frankfurter was the tutor of most, though not all, of this cadre of cynical, destructive revolutionaries. He is a disciple, or vice versa, of Harold Laski, the English ismatian who is so familiarly associated with Communists that he is casually referred to, apparently without protest from him, as an apologist for Communism. Frankfurter is also a disciple of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who has a false reputation as a liberal created by this clique. Holmes was, in fact, a true, essential Hitlerite and his brutality permeates the Supreme Court today. Harvard once was great in our history. Today Harvard is sinister and suspected. No other school has taken Harvard's old place. Notre Dame might.

The Truman Congress probably will demolish the Committee on Un-American Activities because Mr. Truman, as a patriot, is ashamed and, as a politician, is embarrassed by the penetration of treasonism in our government which this committee revealed. But the committee's record shows Communists in the State Department, the Department of Justice, the Treasury, the Office of War Information, the O.S.S., the U.N.R.R.A.—in hundreds of civil and military domestic and foreign agencies of the United States. Most of them and certainly the worst of them came from Harvard Law.

What I say to Mr. Ward is that the Notre Dame alumni have an opportunity to revive a love of honor and decency in the people by taking in politics the same energetic, skillful leadership that Notre Dame assumed in football by right of superior quality. Our people have been degraded. Young students are frankly preparing to become professional parasite "administrators" by the thousand to deal "relief," "benefits," "compensation" and pensions to other millions with no higher aim in life than idleness or mock-work.

The White House, Congress, the Supreme Court, the Department of Justice, even the clergy are unable to offer an example of fineness, honor and true respectability. The clergy can't even agree that obvious wrongs are wrong. Eminent clergy break bread with rascal unionists in an indecent approach to their subjects under civil auspices. We find them on the platform with Henry Wallace and the Communists not to argue, but to agree.

Notre Dame could come to stand for the opposite of everything that Harvard Law stands for now. But this isn't an exclusive opportunity.

There is a slush. (Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MRS. DONALD A. MEAGHER

Donald A. Meagher, Principal in Maryland, Marries Mrs. Lillian Kinney, West Hurley

The marriage of Mrs. Lillian Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ettore Raffaldi, West Hurley, to Donald A. Meagher, of Silver Spring, Md., son of Col. and Mrs. Frank L. Meagher, 38 East St. James street, was performed Saturday at 11 a. m. in St. John's Roman Catholic Church, West Hurley. The Rev. Philip Nolan, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before a Nuptial Mass.

A wedding breakfast was held at the bride's residence for relatives and near friends. Mr. and Mrs. Meagher left for Silver Spring, Md., where they will make their home. For traveling the bride chose a wine wool dress with gray and white accessories.

Mrs. Meagher is a graduate of Kingston High School, received her bachelor of arts degree in education at Syracuse University and taught English in Highland. For two years she has been employed as a social service worker in child welfare with Jister County Welfare Department.

Lions Speaker

THOMAS W. RYAN

Thomas W. Ryan, director, New York State Division of Safety, will address the Lions Club on Tuesday. Mr. Ryan was appointed by Governor Dewey to head a new state division of safety authorized in 1946 but never activated. He will organize the division under which a state-wide program will be coordinated.

With vast experience as traffic coordinator of the Buffalo Police Department, the director in his new post is authorized to establish bureau of safety and accident prevention, the publication and activities. On the Buffalo police force he was the youngest in the ranks of detective, lieutenant, captain and inspector to receive designated positions.

For his activities in lowering Buffalo traffic fatalities he received the national safety award in 1945. One of his outstanding accomplishments in plain clothes was the singlehanded capture of four burglars, one of whom he shot while they were looting a store.

The Misses Catherine Roach, Sawkill road, Marguerite Faye, 240 Clinton avenue, and Eileen Schwenk of 152 Foxhall avenue, have been appointed on the committee of Salve Regina College, Newport, R. I., to arrange for a joint, glee-club concert with Providence College, Providence, R. I. The concert will be held in Newport December 5.

Proceeds will be used for the benefit of European Student Relief. Anyone wishing to be a sponsor for this cause may contact either of the students.

14 Scholarships

IN DOUBT ABOUT DRESS?

The following question is asked me repeatedly: "How does one know what to wear to a formal evening-hour entertainment when no dress information has been on either invitations or tickets?"

This is perplexing to so many because customs vary in thousands of communities. In a great city, a formal evening entertainment means "white tie and tails" for the gentlemen and low-necked long-skirted evening dresses for the ladies. In less formal communities it means tuxedos for the gentlemen and simple evening dresses for the ladies. In very informal communities, it may mean best day clothes. Of course, you can call and ask the hostess, if you know her well enough, or ask a friend who also is invited.

Mother Lets Them In

Dear Mrs. Post: When a girl is visiting a boy's family and she and the boy are going to a dance, must the boy's mother wait up for them—no matter how late?

Answer: Yes, the mother should let them in. Instead of going to bed, many mothers prefer to put on a housecoat and nap on the sitting room sofa until their children come in.

Husband And Wife Argue

Dear Mrs. Post: My wife and I can't agree about who goes to see whom first when a family moves into a new neighborhood. She says the neighbors should visit the newcomers, without waiting to be invited. I think it would be much simpler if the newcomer went, as they found time, to call on the oldtimers and introduced themselves.

Recent Bride

MRS. VINCENT W. DALEY

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss June Hufts and Vincent William Daley, both of Saugerties R.F.D. 2, November 21. (Sterling Studio Photo)

Answer: Your intention is very friendly, but your wife is right. It would be entirely contrary to etiquette for the newcomers to presume to call upon the older residents. In fact, the community almost certainly would take such unusual behavior amiss.

Offering House For Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: We have offered our house to friends of ours for their wedding, as neither has a family or suitable place for the wedding reception. What will be expected of me besides providing the house?

Answer: Nothing should be required of you further than lending them your house, but make certain that they are not counting on you for the collation.

Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "The Etiquette of Weddings," gives details on preparations for either small or large weddings. To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. A certain Chicago advertising man was noted for his thriftiness. Strangely, he is of Scotch descent. Imagine our amazement, at a recent select little dinner, to hear him call for the check. He blushed as he looked at it, but paid it like a man.

The next day's paper carried this headline:

"Scotchman murders ventriloquist."

Teacher—Every day we breathe oxygen. What do we breathe at night, Willie?

Willie—Nitrogen.

Everybody wants to be a foreman and nobody wants to be the guy who does the work.

Mrs. McQuish—I can make a fool of my husband whenever I choose to.

Mrs. Gish—How do you manage that?

Mrs. McQuish—I just let him have his own way.

Mrs. Z—She's very fond of clothes.

Mrs. X—Yes, but not entirely wrapped up in them.

Unjust criticism by unjust people has killed many a willing spirit.

You can tell when a comic strip artist is on a vacation because the sequences then sink from imbecility to idiosyncrasy.

Caller—Do you guarantee the result of your nerve treatment?

Specialist—You bet I do. Only today, a man came to me for a treatment, and when I had finished, he turned around and tried to borrow $100 from me.

A tall, athletic man walked into a store one day last week and said: "I want to buy a set of lady's furs."

"What kind?" inquired the new clerk, with a knowing wink, anxious to make a sale.

"That set in the window will do very well, if you don't want too much for it," answered the tall, athletic man.

"Oh, you mean skunk," said the new clerk.

(Editor's Note: "The clerk was still in the hospital a week later.")

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, Nov. 29.—Completed plans for the Christmas decorations in Ellenville include the award of silver loving cups for first and second best exhibits in both homes and stores. In addition to the extensive program of street lighting and decoration. At last report the minimum budget for $2,500 to cover the cost of the project was within a few hundred dollars of being in hand.

The deer season in this area has been marked by a number of events not on the original program. In addition to the experience of James Cleary, who was lost overnight in the woods on Slide Mountain, forest rangers and others were called to search last Saturday for a young man from Nyack who became lost in the woods near Sagsdown. On Sunday morning Edward Haber of Ozone Park, visiting at the Floyd VanAken home on Red Hill, went out, heard the young man call and took him home. He had wandered in the woods all night. Arthur Geary of Kerhonkson and Henry T. Savage of Waverlet didn't get lost and they did get a buck, but their good luck ended there. Coming back to their car after stopping at a roadstand near Kerhonkson they found that their guns, two Winchester rifles and a 12-gauge Browning shotgun, had been stolen. In addition to those previous reported numerous hunters in the area have shot bucks and several bears have been taken.

The increased enrollment in the Ellenville school system and the need for new building were brought before the Ellenville P-T A. at its last meeting by Joel Esolin, president of the board of education and Thomas J. Duffield, supervising principal. Classes, it was claimed, are now too large and Mr. Duffield said that in three years, unless adequate facilities are provided, Grades 4, 5 and 6 will have over 60 students for each teacher. A study made by Lester J. Roosa, superintendent, Mr. Duffield and Dr. William Wilson of the state department showed, it was stated, that within six years there must be an increase of 25 classrooms as a basic minimum program. A minimum program of at least $900,000 in building was mentioned. Mr. Duffield was against a suggestion that non-resident pupils be sent back to the districts from which they come, in an attempt to lighten the load on the Ellenville school system.

Ellenville banks report that Christmas Club checks mailed this year show a decided increase over last year. The Home National Bank reported that about $50,000 in such checks were mailed to a total of 800 members. At the First National Bank and Trust Co. the total this year was said to be about $5,000 more than in 1947. Directors of the Veterans Memorial Hospital have rejected the higher bids for projected addition and alteration to the hospital, but will take a month for further study of the lowest bids received.

Seventeen members of the Dutch Arms of the Ellenville Reformed Church were among the 200 representatives from churches in the Classis of Orange who attended the fall meeting and banquet in North Church, Middletown.

Born at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, a son to Mr. and Mrs. William Van Leuven of Napanoch; daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Distel of Ellenville.

Funeral services were held in St. Mary's Church, Ellenville, Wednesday morning, for Mrs. Agnes Lillian Ruckel, wife of Frank Ruckel, who died in Kingston Hospital Sunday. She was born in Ellenville January 18, 1870, daughter of Daniel and Bridget Quinn Monroe. She is survived by her husband, a former well known Ellenville glassblower and who also at one time blew glass in the old factory on South Wall street, Kingston.

Among the happy Thanksgiving gatherings that were the order of the day Thursday one of the pleasantest reported was the biennial Thanksgiving reunion of the Childs-Rose family, held this year at the Hotel Palatine, Newburgh. Richard T. Childs of Kew Gardens, L. I., was the host this year. These gatherings, which started in 1908, have been held every two years since that time. Present Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Childs and Miss Carolyn DuBois of Kew Gardens; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rose, Miss Eleanor Rose, William R. Rose, Miss Katherine T. Terwilliger of Ellenville; Mr. and Mrs. George Rose, Peggy and Graham Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weston of Mincola.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuthill McDowell left Thursday for Potsdam to visit Mr. McDowell's sister, Mrs. Gladys Stalcup and nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. David Rosoff.

Mrs. Benjamin Schweinfest, who has been a patient in a Poughkeepsie hospital, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sawyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sawyer, Jr., and children, left Thursday to spend the winter in Florida. Mrs. Mary Lynam has gone to spend the winter with her son, Ralph Lynam, in Pawling.

Attorney and Mrs. Westlake Coons spent the holiday week-end at the home of Mrs. Coons' sister, Mrs. Fitch C. Bryant, New York city.

Mrs. Jack Lenihan, who has been in Venezuela for several months, is visiting Ellenville friends. Her family are expected to arrive shortly for a stay of three months.

Mrs. Susan Freer Morse, widow of Leonard Morse, one of Ellenville's oldest citizens, died November 24 after an illness of about four weeks. She was past 97 years of age, having been born in Mountain Dale March 19, 1851, he daughter of Moses and Mary Ann Coons Freer. Leonard Morse, to whom she was married in 1874, died in 1931. She had been a member of the Ellenville Methodist Church for 67 years. Two daughters survive, Mrs. George Bultmann of 126 South Main street, at whose home she died and Mrs. Townsend Osterhout of Walpole; also three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held November 28 at 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Bultmann, with burial in Fantinekill

Cemetery. Charles Fitch Grant, a veteran of World War II, died November 24 in the Veterans Administration Hospital in the Bronx, after an illness of about eight weeks. Born in Kingston March 8, 1925, the son of Gordon and Beatrice Gray

Grant, he graduated from the Ellenville High School, served with the U. S. Army 1943-47 and was a sophomore at Alfred University when he was taken ill. Besides his mother he leaves one sister, Mrs. Leslie Lenfest of Tuxedo and a brother, Thomas, of Ellenville. He was a member of Cook-Taylor Post, American Legion and of Claytons Military Band. Funeral services were held November 27 at 2 p. m., at the home, 51 Market street, the Rev. George R. Hiatt officiating. Burial was in Fantinekill Cemetery.

said he will introduce such a measure after the Democrats take over Congress January 3. He said he plans to propose a levy about one-half the wartime rate.

The senator said other members of Congress who are objecting to these "in peacetime" are avoiding the facts.

"Winning of the peace is the biggest job this government has to do," he said. "The government can't do it unless it has ample revenues. With the world in its present state of turmoil and the peace treaties not yet written, it's idle to talk in a glib manner assuming we are at peace."

O'Mahoney said he expects business, industry, employment and profits to stay at "present high levels providing we don't cut off the purchasing power of the millions in the lower income groups."

To protect the low income buyers, O'Mahoney wants to impose a "cooling off period" of 60 to 90 days before prices of basic commodities would be raised. Notice of any proposed increase then would be given to the Federal Trade Commission, Commerce Department and Justice Department. The F.T.C. then would conduct public hearings on the proposal.

Under O'Mahoney's plan evasion of this process by any official or agent could bring $5,000 fine and one year in jail.

"All this does," he said, "is to enable the government to act in the public interests instead of a small group of corporation officials, no matter how well intentioned." "To my mind this is the only way to protect free enterprise in this country," he added.

the alarm to the Central fire station in Kingston, from where it was relayed by the mutual aid system to Ulster Hose No. 5 fire company. Meanwhile, he began to fight the fire with bucketsful of water, and according to Fire Chief J. LeRoy Boice, he "did a good job in keeping the fire from spreading."

The fire was caused by an overheated coal stove in a bedroom. Chief Boice said. The walls of the bedroom, dining room and a part of the attic were badly damaged by fire, he reported. Furniture was removed by firemen and canvas covers spread to prevent water damage. It was only by prompt discovery of the fire that further damage was prevented, the fire chief said. The building was not insured, he added.

Both trucks from Ulster Hose were dispatched and remained at the location about two hours.

Atlanta, forcing residents of a fashionable, northside residential section to flee. Macon had the highest flood level in its history in the Ocmulgee river. Highways in the vicinity of Rome, Ga., were in danger of flooding. At Columbus, Ga., the warehouse area was in danger and workers removed merchandise from buildings.

A number of Kansas and Oklahoma communities were without electric service yesterday as the result of a snow and wind storm in that area. Transportation and communications were disrupted. Heavy sleet broke power lines to 43 Oklahoma communities. Telephone and telegraph lines snapped under coats of ice. Some highways in south central Kansas were closed.

Up to three inches of snow fell in some parts of western Pennsylvania, snow fell on the outskirts of Washington, D. C., but melted as it turned to rain. Rain and snow hampered motorists in east-central Virginia.

Blizzards and winter storms hit the Cascade Mountains in Washington. Communications were severed and blown down trees blocked highways. Many automobiles were caught in the heavy snowfall.

U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters in Chicago said clearing weather was in prospect this morning and late this afternoon for the flooded areas of Georgia and Alabama. Clearing and colder temperatures tonight were forecast for Kentucky and Tennessee, with freezing temperatures due. A rain belt along the Atlantic states from northern Georgia to the southern tip of New York was forecast. However, the Weather Bureau said this would not reach the intensity of the rainfall which inundated in the Gulf States.

Wet snow in sections of New Jersey, New York and western Pennsylvania was expected to turn to snow flurries tonight. Snow fell in New York city and was expected to turn to rain tonight. Clearing and somewhat colder weather was forecast for eastern New Jersey and the surrounding area tonight.

Bills Would Ease Parking Problems, Desmond Says

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—Five bills designed to help cities ease their downtown parking problems will be introduced in the 1949 legislature by State Senator Thomas C. Desmond.

The Newburgh Republican, in announcing the proposals yesterday, said the "most sought after real estate in the country appears to be, ironically, a thin strip of gutter."

Desmond said that the "parking situation is getting so desperate that, unless bold action is taken," cities eventually may have "to bar all private cars from downtown business areas."

He said the measures would:

1. Enable New York city and other municipalities to condemn property for resale to the highest bidder for the purpose of erecting and operating garages.
2. Require factories, hotels, office buildings and other "traffic generators" hereafter erected to provide suitable off-street parking facilities, unless specifically exempted by local ordinance.
3. Authorize cities to condemn property and allocate funds to set up truck loading and unloading facilities.

4. Permit cities to grant partial tax exemption to buildings now in existence which are altered to provide off-street parking spaces and loading facilities.

5. Appropriate $50,000 to the State Traffic Commission to intensify the state's efforts to help localities solve their parking problems by employing parking experts to advise cities and make surveys.

Desmond said a conference, attended by representatives of Governor Dewey, Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city, the New York Board of Trade and his own office, had made "substantial progress" on proposals to allow cities to condemn land for resale as garage locations.

Desmond, chairman of the Senate's Affairs of Cities Committee, said that in New York city, especially, private business interests were prepared to build huge garages to relieve the parking problem but they could not acquire the necessary property.

He said there was "increasing

The Blonde Bombshell is coming!

sentiment" among public officials and citizens to ban traffic in downtown areas and encourage drivers to park their automobiles in less congested areas.

"We hope cities can escape using such drastic solutions," Desmond declared.

Notes Point-Count System Discrepancy

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Last August I published a series of six articles on the book entitled "The Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge" by Fred L. Karpin of Washington, D. C. The publishers are the Kaufman Press, Washington. The book has caused a great deal of comment, and I have received a dozen or more manuscripts from other authors who either have written or are planning to write a book on the point-count system, which, briefly, values an ace four points, a king three, a queen two and a jack one.

In the August issue of "The Bridge World." A. Moyse, Jr., publisher and editor of the magazine, wrote an article entitled "Why I Dislike the 4-3-2-1 Count." Mr. Moyse says he has never maintained that "the honor-trick table is an absolute measure of the offensive and defensive possibilities of a given bridge hand," but he also claims that the point-count system is not a cure-all.

In his article Mr. Moyse gave the East and West hands shown today. I have filled in the North and South cards. He points out that the discrepancy in the point-count system lies in the minimum and maximum requirements that one may have. The point-count advocates say that 36 points in the two hands guarantees a game. If the opener has 19 points or even 18½, why, asks Mr. Moyse, should his partner not raise him with 7 or 7½, rather than the 8 or 9 needed in the point-count system? He points out that in today's hand, West has a total of 16 points and East has 9. However, most of the point-count advocates value ten-spots at one-half point, and that would give West actually a count of 17. Therefore, when the bidding comes back to West, he would be entitled to go to three no trump, which cannot be made.

After one more article on the reasons why Mr. Moyse dislikes the 4-3-2-1 count, I am going to give Mr. Karpin a chance to come back and answer Mr. Moyse. I think we will find that he would not suggest that West go to game because of the two ten-spots.

Returns to Albany

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—Governor Dewey returned to Albany early today after spending the week-end at his farm in Pawling. The governor, who arrived at Pawling with his family Thanksgiving Day after a two-week, post-election vacation at Tucson, Ariz., has said that his sole political ambition is to complete his term. He last said completely that he will not run again in 1950. During his vacation, he worked on his annual budget message to the legislature. When he landed at La Guardia Field Thursday morning, he said the budget message would be a "pretty comprehensive one." It will deal with a "mountain of problems," he added. He left for Tucson Nov. 7, five days after his defeat by President Truman in the presidential election.

Crops Are Larger Than Last Year

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—This year's crops of potatoes, carrots, Danish cabbage and Long Island cauliflower in New York state are substantially larger than last year.

The State Agriculture Department announced this yesterday in a joint federal-state vegetable report.

The department also said the estimated value of vegetables sold from farms in the state during 1947 was $96,760,000. This was $11,001,000 less than the record $107,761,000 reported in 1946. No statistics are available for 1948.

Potato production this year totalled 36,310,000 bushels, of which Long Island produced 18,880,000 and the rest of the state 17,430,000.

The 1948 crop exceeded the 1947 harvest of 33,050,000 bushels. It was 6,201,000 bushels over the 10-year (1937-46) average of 30,109,000.

This year's carrot crop of 1,838,000 bushels compared to 864,000 bushels produced last year and the 10-year average of 1,520,000 bushels.

Danish cabbage production of 162,000 tons showed a gain of 5,400 over the 1947 total of 110,600 tons, but was seven per cent under the 10-year average of 174,600 tons.

The 1,268,000 crates of Long Island cauliflower represented 17 per cent more than last year's 1,080,000 crates and two per cent under the 10-year average of 1,289,000.

Two Youths Are Held

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Two Negro youths were arrested last night after they allegedly fired several shots in the street near Boston road and East 168th street, The Bronx, slightly wounding a patron in a nearby restaurant. Charged with violation of the Sullivan Law and felonious assault were: Joseph Williams, 18, of 931 Union avenue, and Carlos Perkins, 19, of 1072 Union avenue, both The Bronx. Police said the two youths, each of whom allegedly carried a pistol when arrested, had fired several shots at 9 p. m., explaining that they had been attacked by several other Negro youths. One of the bullets crashed through a window and hit Leslie Barnes, 30, of 1135 Fulton avenue, The Bronx, as he sat in a restaurant at 1204 Boston road. He was treated at Lincoln Hospital.

Suspension Is Upheld

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—The executive council of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity has upheld the suspension of its Amherst College chapter which took a Negro into membership. The council, national ruling body of the fraternity, said yesterday that "the fraternity is primarily a social organization and the executive council found that the overwhelming majority of its chapters and alumni associations is firmly opposed to such inclusion." The statement said that after protests, the Amherst chapter had agreed last July, "for the sake of harmony," not to initiate the Negro student, Thomas W. Gibbs, 19, of Evanston, Ill.

George Johnson Dies at Endicott

Endicott, N. Y., Nov. 29. (AP)—George F. Johnson, co-founder of the Endicott-Johnson Shoe Corporation, died at his home last night. He was 91.

He had been ill for several weeks. Death was attributed to a toxic condition.

Johnson, who rose from a shoe factory worker to a corporation president, was noted for his interest in the physical and financial well-being of his employees.

The firm now employs more than 18,000 in its plants and offices here and at Johnson City, Binghamton, and Oswego, N. Y., and at Tunkhannock, Pa.

Although he retired several years ago as president of the firm, Johnson continued as chairman of the board of directors until his death.

He was born Oct. 14, 1857, at Milford, Mass.

He came to Binghamton as a young man and was employed by the Lester Brothers shoe factory.

The firm was in financial difficulties and Johnson persuaded Henry B. Endicott, principal creditor, to sell him a half interest for $150,000. Since he had no funds, he further proposed that Endicott loan him the money.

The plant, reorganized with Johnson as superintendent, prospered under his direction. Johnson liquidated his debt and eventually came into complete control of the factory.

He then concentrated on improving the working and financial conditions of his employees. He organized a profit-sharing plan, shortened the work week and established community stores, hospitals, free libraries, parks and bathing pavilions for the workers.

He never was quoted in opposition to unions, but union organization made little progress in Endicott-Johnson plants. The only union now operating is a small local of the C.I.O. Rubber Workers Union at the firm's rubber plant.

Survivors include two sons, George W. Johnson of Endicott, president of the corporation, and Walter L. Johnson of nearby Vestal; two daughters, Mrs. M. W. Robertson of Boston and Mrs. Lloyd E. Sweet of Binghamton, and one brother, C. Fred Johnson of Johnson City.

Pitching HorseshoesBy Billy Rose

The other afternoon I was traipsing around the East Side with my old friend, Sam Carmel, the postman who has been toting the mail down there for 20 years, and as we entered the hall of an Allen Street tenement, I saw him take an envelope from his bag and tear off a single stamp.

"I didn't know you were a philatelist," I said.

"It's an ordinary stamp," said Sam, "but the letter is for Minnie Slikin, and at the request of her husband I always remove the one-cent stamps. Do you remember Minnie?"

"Of course," I said. "The old gal once invited me in for a glass of tea and showed me the eleven pictures of 'September Morn' in her parlor. When I asked her why so many, she said a person couldn't have too much of a good thing."

"That's Minnie; all right," said Sam. "She has a mind of her own, and to hear Max, her husband, tell it, she's welcome to it. By the way, did you hear that their marriage almost went on the rocks not long ago?"

"How come?"

"It was on account of a birthday present he gave her," said Sam.

"A deed to a cemetery plot."

A dozen houses and 96 mail boxes later I had the complete story. Max had presented his wife with an engraved certificate which entitled her to a certain amount of square footage in one of the better cemeteries on Long Island, and though Minnie didn't know anything about Freud, there was something about the morbid quality of the gift which displeased her. Of course, a present was a present and she tried to express her resentment tactfully so as not to hurt Max's feelings.

"Him," hummed Minnie. "All the way out on Long Island is too far."

"Don't worry," said Max. "You won't have to walk. They take you."

"Long Island I'm not liking," Minnie insisted. "Nothing grows."

"You never heard of Long Island ducklings?" her husband demanded. "And Long Island potatoes? How can you talk without looking?"

"Apples," said Minnie. "Give me heartburn."

"You don't like a baked apple?"

"Once in a while I take a baked apple," Minnie admitted.

"Okay," said her husband. "I'll tell them to bake them for you."

"Max," said Minnie, "I'm not a woman like other women. With me there's no running up and down with other fellas when you—you should pardon the expression—pass away. When I'm burying you, I'm wearing black and coming out each and every year to celebrate the anniversary. But who can spend a whole day traveling there and back? Where's your consideration?"

"I wouldn't worry," said Max. "In America they got an expression, 'Ladies first.' You'll go before me."

The upshot was that Max agreed to accompany his wife on a tour of inspection, but the birthday plot did nothing to reassure Minnie. Painfully deciphering the inscriptions on the tombstones, she discovered that most of her future neighbors had been victims of East Side gang wars.

"With such bums, who could live?" she wailed. "Gangsters! Hold-up-men! Is this the company you're picking for your wife?"

"There you got a point," said Max. "Maybe they got better vicinities."

Together the pair went to the office of the manager of the cemetery. The manager, a honey-voiced gentleman, assured the overwrought lady that many refined and prominent corpses were buried in other subdivisions of the grounds, and to drive home his argument he pointed to the office walls which were covered with pictures of deceased dignitaries.

"This is Mr. Bustanski," he said, "a sea captain formerly with the Tracy Towing Company. How about a plot next to his?"

Minnie shook her head. "Next to a sailor, a woman could get seasick," she said.

"How about this one?" said the manager. "Feitel, the Sturgeon King."

"No," said Minnie, "with so much money a man talks in his sleep!" Her eyes settled on a flag-festooned picture over the manager's desk. "Who's that?" she said.

"George Washington," said the manager.

"That's a face I'm liking," said Minnie. "I wouldn't mind being buried next to him."

"Money is no object," said Max, winking at the manager. "Reserve the plot."

"And so," concluded Sam Carmel, "that's why I always tear the stamps with Washington's picture off Mrs. Slikin's envelopes. And that's why Max gives Minnie her allowance in fifty-cent pieces instead of dollar bills."

"What would happen," I asked, "if Minnie went to night school and found who George Washington was?"

"Not much change at her age," said the mailman. "Of course an awful thing might happen. Minnie might get tired of collecting 'September Morns' and buy a new picture—the one of Washington Crossing the Delaware."

Here's a durability story you shouldn't miss!

If you're a value-minded, long-range buyer—here are some quick facts you'll want to keep in mind...

1. Of all the Packards built—in the last 49 years—over 50% are still in service.

2. It's commonplace for Packards (many of them in tough, round-the-clock commercial service) to roll up more than 400,000 miles apiece before being retired.

3. Today's new Packards are more durable than ever. Proof: Periodic service records, submitted by all Packard dealers, show that service needs of the new Packard Eights are the lowest in Packard's 49 years of precision manufacturing!

That's just part of the value story behind this distinctively-styled Packard.

Wiltwyck Motors Near Y Autumn Title With 38-27 Win Over Sicklers

Need Single Win To Cinch Title

In a rugged defensive duel, Wiltwyck Motors generated more scoring power in the second half to turn back the challenge of Sickler's Delivery, 38-27, and virtually clinch the Y Autumn Basketball League crown before a packed house Saturday night at the Y gym.

As a result of the triumph over the city's generally accepted most powerful basketball army, the Wiltwycks can clinch the title by winning their final game. Sickler's have two more on the slate and their only chance is a pair of wins combined with a Wiltwyck loss.

Sickler Sparks Rally

Bob Sickler sparked the triumphant Wiltwyck rally with three long set shots in the fourth quarter. The clubs battled on even terms through the first three quarters, but Wiltwyck moved ahead 23-19 at the three-quarter mark as the action picked up.

Augmenting Sickler's siege gun baskets were a one-hander from the corner by Bob Hunt and a dazzling left-handed shot from 25 feet out on the sidelines by Paul Parslow. The league correspondent called the shot "lucky" when Parslow fired a desperation heave as he was being forced out of bounds, but apparently it was included in the boxscore.

Glaser Drops Two

George Glaser maintained the offensive with a pair of hook shots fading away from the basket, while Sickler's tried desperately but fruitfully to connect with outside shots.

It was primarily a team triumph with few individual heroes. Bob Sickler led the winners with 10 points, while Parslow had eight. Big Andy Murphy drilled five deuces for Sickler's.

Fuller's Win Prelim

Fuller Sports downed the Governor Clinton Hotel, 52-51, in a spirited overtime prelim thriller, after a 45-45 deadlock at regulation time. Brochhead dropped 17 points for the Clinton. Dunham scored 14 for Fuller, with Braman and Koeppel, sinking 12 apiece and Peck getting 10.

Rossides and Kussrow Named

On 1948 All-Ivy Selections

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Although their club finished dead last, Columbia's Gene Rossides and Lou Kussrow both earned backfield spots on the 1948 Ivy League All-Star football team selected today by the Associated Press with the cooperation of coaches in the circuit.

Not even Cornell's newly crowned champions could do any better. The Big Red also gained two positions on the mythical eleven, as did Pennsylvania and Dartmouth.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton divided the remaining three places among them, leaving Brown as the only team in the league without a man on the first team.

Perhaps even more surprising than Columbia's taking two of the four backfield posts was the failure of the classy Cornell club to get a backfield man on either the first or second team.

But the titleholders from Ithaca presented such a well-balanced attack that the league coaches, most of whom arrived at their decisions before Bob Dean led the Big Red to victory over Penn in the last game, obviously couldn't find a stickout among Cornell's backs.

As for Rossides and Kussrow, it was a case of two fine operatives carrying a thinly manned squad that wound up as probably the best cellar club the league ever produced.

The 1948 Ivy League All-Star line-up:

The man with the shortest name in bowling has the longest in pins last week in the local tenpin circuits. Harry Re, veteran Electrol kegler who has been pounding the pot belled maples for a decade, had his moment of glory Friday night in the Electrol. He opened with a modest 182 and then started a dazzling string of strikes for 232 and 263. His 677 triple set a new league record, as did the 263, and both figures are among the best reported this season.

Lou Bruno, who is a charter member of that colorful band of young keglers who represent the American Legion captured the solo honors with a rousing 269.

Millie Roux was a level of consistency—101-104-109. Bill Rappaport the old brush nan, bent his pretzel ball for a 202. The hook is as big as ever. Browns and Eagles Win Divisional Titles in Pro Football Leagues

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—Half of the professional football scramble was unraveled today, with the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles clinching divisional honors in their respective leagues.

The pulverizing Browns came from behind yesterday to whip the San Francisco 49ers, 31-28, and nab honors for the third straight year in the All-American Conference Western division.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, staved away the National League's Eastern Division title for the second season in a row by blanking the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17-0.

The Eagles and Browns now can coast through their remaining games and wait for the other half of their circuit to bring out a challenger for the championship in the rival loops.

Two clubs in the A.A.C. Eastern race and two in the National League's Western Division have a chance, and one scrap may be settled next Sunday at Baltimore. The Buffalo Bills, leading the Dodgers, 38-20. Chicago and Los Angeles in the A.A.C. were idle.

In the National League, the Eagles got an assist from the Bears, who swamped the Washington Redskins, 48-13, and left them no chance of catching up in the Eastern flag chase. Two other National contests saw the New York Giants down the Boston Yanks, 28-14, and the Los Angeles Rams sink Green Bay, 24-10. The Cardinals and Detroit Lions had an off day.

The four National League titles were witnessed by 107,810 fans, while 87,001 sat in on the three A.A.C. games.

Doblers Sweep 3 From Waysides To Retain Hudson Valley Lead

Sweeping three games from the accommodating Ellenville Waysides, the Kingston Doblers defended their Hudson Valley Bowling League lead, Sunday at the Central Recs.

Anchor John Ferraro resorted to a Jersey strike to clinch the first game and the locals had easy going in the next two.

Johnny Schatzel was the star with a pair of 220s and 227. Ferraro posted 213-593 and Cliff Quick 216-567. Church had 202 and Morse 508 for the losers.

Wiltwyck Motors stayed in the running with a split decision over the fast fading Poughkeepsie PFFC. Larry Weisaupt clipped 207-209-603; Charlie Gruenewald 221-214-584; Joe McCaffrey led the losers with 222-561.

Red Sangli's 605 with 211-183-211 was the only bright spot in another unhappy afternoon for Jones Dairy who dropped three to the Poughkeepsie Carpenters. Jerry Tenhope socked 237-620; and Haug 201-202-595 for the Carpenters.

Object to Change

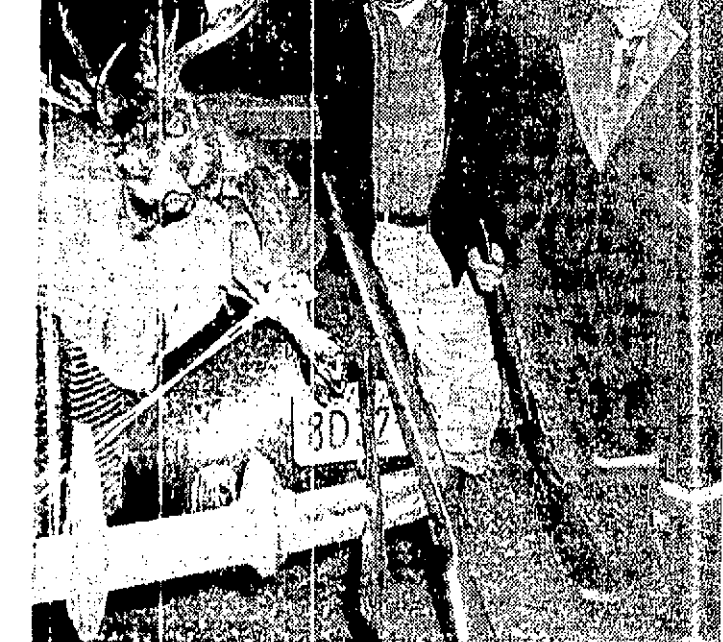

Berlin (AP)—Nearly four years after the war the occupying powers are still "demilitarizing and denazifying" German street names. Sometimes the Germans express a dim view of this process. In the town of Hannover, British occupation zone, for instance, a way crack followed the renaming of a street from Bismarckstrasse to Beethovenstrasse. Next day a fish monger hung another sign under the new street sign. It said: "Fresh Beethoven herring for sale."

Bowl Game Lineups Revive Old Arguments

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—With scattered exceptions, the myriad bowls could start printing programs today and begin bragging about who is going to serve the best football game.

The debate over the outstanding post-season attraction is bound to wax a bit hotter than usual because six of the ten top teams in last week's poll to the Associated Press poll are square off in three of the annual fixtures.

The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans might be excused for puffing out its chest a little farther than the others because it landed the No. 4 team, North Carolina, and the No. 6, Oklahoma, the Big Seven champion.

The pups of the January 1 extravaganza—the Rose at Pasadena—counters with one of the two unblemished powers in Bowl action, fifth-ranked California, and Northwestern, No. 7.

S. M. U. vs. Oregon

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas matches Southern Methodist University, No. 8 in the last A.P. poll, and Oregon, No. 10.

A seventh member of the select bracket—ninth-ranked Clemson, also unbeaten and undefeated at Jacksonville, Fla.

Miami's Orange Bowl reached down to pick Georgia from the No. 12 spot. Sponsors haven't named an opponent yet but are expected today to give the nod to Texas, whose record of seven victories, two defeats and one tie has failed to bring it into the first twenty teams.

Dana K. Bible, athletic director of the Longhorns, acknowledged that Texas was being considered for the Miami bid and he left little doubt about the team's acceptance.

The national championship aspects have been removed from the bowl events, so the boys can go ahead and argue it out.

Michigan, the No. 1 team in the nation, can't compete under a Western Conference ruling forbidding return trips to Pasadena. Notre Dame, No. 2, and Army, No. 3, traditionally shun the extracurricular activity.

The Wolverines finished their campaign without a triumph, extending a two-year winning streak. Notre Dame is expected to do likewise Saturday in its finale against Southern California.

Army had its perfect season spoiled in the annual service game spectacle at Philadelphia Saturday by a battered Navy team that sledgehammered its way to a 21-21 draw.

This was one of the football shockers of all time—a first slip-up for the West Pointers, whose precisionist platoons had stormed all opposition, and a moral victory for the lowly Midshipmen, who had lost 13 straight.

Preserve Records

Notre Dame and Clemson scored triumphs to keep their states clean. The opportunist Irish, converting fumbles into touchdowns, stormed over Washington, 46-0. Clemson tripped Auburn, 7-6, and now must play The Citadel.

Orange-Bowl-bound Georgia clinched the Southeastern Conference crown by humbling its state rival, Georgia Tech, 21-13. Tulane topped Louisiana State, 46-0, and Mississippi trimmed Mississippi State, 34-7, for runner-up honors. Vanderbilt, which grew in strength as the season progressed, finished a successful year by trouncing Tennessee, 28-6.

The Sugar Bowl rivals won their season finales to carry almost similar records into the New Orleans clash. North Carolina defeated Virginia, 34-12, to wind up with nine victories and a tie. Oklahoma squeezed past Oklahoma A. & M., 19-15, to finish with nine triumphs and a single defeat.

The Oklahoma Aggies were named to play William and Mary in the Delta Bowl at Memphis, W. & M., won, over Arkansas, 7-0.

In an intersectional joust, Penn

State barely edged out Washington State, 7-0.

Other results included: Alabama 34, Florida 28; Boston College 21, Holy Cross 20; Fordham 26, New York U. 0; Texas Tech 28; Hardin Simmons 20; Villanova 21, N. C. State 7; Detroit 26, Tulsa 22; Arizona 24, Marquette 14.

Defense Costs Will Be Held to Fifteen Billions

Washington, Nov. 29 (AP)—Unless grave new threats develop overseas, administration officials appear resolved to hold military spending to the $15,000,000,000 limit set by President Truman.

Otherwise, they have been warned, the nation may be plunged into a greater inflationary whirlpool.

Two top civilian advisers to the President, it was learned today, have carried this campaign against high defense costs right into military headquarters at the Pentagon. Their talks were delivered to a seminar of leading citizens early this month but were not then publicly reported.

Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of the President's Council of Economic Advisers warned that if the military budget rises to "a level of 16 or 20 billions, there are bound to be important repercussions on the economy."

Mr. Truman said last month that the armed forces had requested $23,000,000,000 for the 1950 fiscal year starting July 1. Nourse told the Pentagon group:

"If we project a substantially larger scale of military spending for rearming ourselves and perhaps western Europe and some other countries, it is clear that new forces of inflation would be unleashed."

Holiday Fair May Be Extended; New Consignors Listed

Woodstock, Nov. 29 — The craftsmen in Ulster county represented in the 10th annual Holiday Fair at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen are receiving congratulations on intriguing designs and magnificent workmanship now displayed in the Guild Shop. Crowds attracted to this annual event began arriving early and it was difficult to find standing room by the time the doors opened at 1:30 p. m. Friday. Although originally scheduled to close on December 12, it is now expected that the time will be extended due to the pressure of the volunteer workers who are anxious to have the fair continue until at least December 19.

Several new consignors' contributions were seen when your reporter called at the Guild Shop during the opening afternoon. Maude Petersham, well-known author with her husband Miska, of children's books is listed among the new arrivals and of particular note is her beautiful crocheted. Another first, is Mikil Petersham, student at the Cleveland Art School and currently showing in a ceramic exhibition in Cleveland, is represented by many beautiful pieces by Mrs. Jesse Stagg, are included, particularly a Chinese-inspired lamp of soft celadon green glaze, an amusing cracker jar with a tiny lifelike mouse nibbling some of the stolen sweets within, and a pair of leaves to be used for sweets or just as ornaments.

Josephine Barnard, another potter, has a Queen Anne teapot in a pewter glaze; also bowls, candlesticks and ashtrays. Zulma Parker has some fine pieces, a tray with silver lustre, a big practical inkwell, bowls and a blue pitcher.

The individually designed pieces in the jewelry case were spoken of by many attending the opening as "pieces that might very well be handed down as heirlooms." The artists represented in this group are Margaret Griver, Edith Temple, Edward Chavez and Ruth Wilcox, all presenting necklaces, pendants, chains, bracelets, earrings, pins and rings in silver and semi-precious gems. No two are alike and each has its special charm.

More than one visit is required to properly see all of the crafts displayed at the Holiday Fair and we anticipate returning again but in spite of Friday's large numbers, we did recognize the coffee tables, benches and tray designed by Allen Gould, the well-known designer of modern furniture; also, a new study chestnut table by Andrew Allerman as well as his new Chinese chestnut chest. Franchot Paige's special garden chairs; Anita Smith's herbs; a case full of soft wooly things of every description for the baby; all types and varieties of stuffed animals and dolls; quilts, aprons;

Handwoven aprons and material by the yard, made by Doris Dodge. There are unusual lamp shades by Vera Kinneke. These and the numerous other items will be explained in another story.

The Guild Shop is open daily from 1:30 to 5:30, and the holiday spirit pervading the premises begins outside where the lovely Christmas decorations beckon the visitor indoors.

James T. Shotwell Heads Speakers at Library Ceremony
Woodstock, Nov. 29—"In a community recognized throughout the world for its devotion to the arts and sciences," Dr. James T. Shotwell, international figure in world affairs, cautioned more than 200 neighbors and friends, assembled for the dedication of the new wing at the Woodstock Library on Friday afternoon, "not to lose sight of the most important of all arts; namely, the art of living."

Frequently in this community where Dr. Shotwell has resided for more than 30 years, he has introduced many who are in need of an introduction. Walter S. Van Wagenen, president of the Woodstock Library, devoted from the accepted routine on Friday, however, when he said "to tell all about Dr. Shotwell's honors and achievements would take hours but in looking over Who's Who I selected those honors which might not be known to all as some of them I had not previously known." Those mentioned were, decorations by at least five foreign nations, as well as that Dr. Shotwell was internationally known as an author and lecturer, is trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for the League of Peace, he has been awarded numerous honorary degrees and was chairman and consultant of the United Nations committee at San Francisco.

The days which marked the beginning of Woodstock's reputation as an art center were recalled by Dr. Shotwell. He paid tribute to Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead, a native Britisher who found in Woodstock all of the beauty and charm he had searched for in many lands and over a period of years and who in 1902 settled in and established Byrdcliffe which immediately attracted artists, craftsmen, musicians, and writers. Among the original group were Harvey White, Elmer Harrison, George Bellows, Edward Hatcher, and Carl Eric Lindin to name but a few of those who achieved outstanding success. Harvey White later founded the Maverick.

Community participation in library affairs was of the utmost significance asserted the speaker who described it as a "matter of far reaching importance as the vitality of a nation can be measured by the vitality of the individual community. This is the only safeguard of the American way of life. Patriotism is not enough as the French have found out and are still finding out. When community interest is geared into the daily life and loyalty, it becomes a vital thing."

Have Our Failures
About Woodstockers in general, Dr. Shotwell said, "Woodstock human nature is the same as that in any other community. We have our full share of failures, our political and personal disagreements, but it is because of all these things that the civic interest of this library is all the more significant when viewed against the general background of the everyday life we have here." And, "today, as in the beginning, we have our lingers on; those who are not willing to let the culture and advancement of the community but who live on the fringe of the accomplishments of others."

The gap existing in the early days between the artists and the older residents was bridged according to Dr. Shotwell by the friendly interest on the part of George Bellows in the youth of the community as well as that of Dr. Downer.

Escape from ignorance was put forth as one of the most important "musts" in today's world. "The greatest of all the arts is life itself. All of us share in this inheritance . . . and the greatest of all achievements is to free ourselves from barbaric sovereignty. We must lead a life of reason. This is the supreme crisis of our time. We must solve our problem by freedom from prejudice and our recognition of the essential beauty of the world."

Mrs. Alice Thompson, librarian, was congratulated for the magnificent work she has done and will continue to do in the library. She was described by Dr. Shotwell as one long accustomed to libraries, of which her father was the librarian. Judging by the applause following Dr. Shotwell's remarks to Mrs. Thompson's "lending the books as cherished friends," those present were in accord with the opinion expressed by the speaker on the unusual qualifications of their librarian.

For this occasion, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd gave the invocation and the ceremonial ended with the Rev. Philip J. Nolan's blessing.

Public Views Wing
A well deserved feeling of pride could be seen on the faces of the admiring crowd as it inspected the new wing and the original building which has been somewhat altered. Throughout the church of the old building has been retained but the rooms have been opened up in such a way as to give one a feeling of great space. One section has been devoted entirely to the children's needs. Suitable fur-ture, books, and prints were to be seen here. A special section also has been devoted to Woodstock authors, all of whom have contributed copies of their numerous works.

Over the fire place in the main room, a lovely landscape by Georgiana Klitgaard had been hung. It was learned that the space will be reserved for paintings which will be changed frequently so that the work of all the artists may be seen. How long the individual paintings will be on view, was not discernible.

The ladies responsible for the tea table were congratulated on its artistic arrangement as well as for the spirit of hospitality which it evoked.

Hunter Fined

Woodstock, Nov. 29—Eugene Polter, New York city, was arrested by Philip J. Gillen, game protector, and fined $15, by Justice George J. Braendly, Friday afternoon, on a charge of carrying a loaded rifle in his car.

Fewer Licenses

Woodstock, Nov. 29—Grant Elwyn, town clerk, has issued 340 deer licenses to date, which is slightly less than the number issued at this time last season. Elwyn attributes the decrease this year over last to the fact that unforeseen circumstances prevented his issuing licenses in the evening as he did last year, just prior to the opening of the deer season.

Cage Teams Split On Friday Night

Woodstock, Nov. 29—The Woodstock Varsity challenged up another win over a Kingston team Friday night by the score of 55, to 35. The Jayvees, however, did not fare so well and were severely trounced by the Kingston Jayvees, 54-23.

Cooperative Fair Interests Visitors

Woodstock, Nov. 29—What may be lacking in space is no doubt made up by the enthusiasm of the craftsmen who recently organized Craft Cooperative, and who are having their first annual Holiday Fair in quarters adjoining The Nook. The fair opened Wednesday and will continue daily through Sunday from 1:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. until Christmas.

One of the first things to attract the eye upon entering Crafts Cooperative is the striking blue color of the walls, a color developed by Carl Walters and for which he has become famous. Years of research and work are represented in the development of this special color which it is understood was inspired by the Egyptian blue. Walters was twice awarded a Guggenheim fellowship which enabled him to complete the process.

For the fair, Walters fired special bowls and a fascinating fish. His unusual jewelry also is included. His work is represented in collections throughout the country.

The well-known linens of Edith Cook Roberts and Mary D. Smith also are attracting a good deal of attention as is the beautiful hand woven work of Angela von den Dreisch. Alice Fisher is represented with original tiles. There are homemade preserves, jams, fruit cakes and during the holiday season, orders will be filled for pies and cookies.

Christmas cards by Woodstock artists are in the shop together with leather pieces, jewelry, ceramics, linens, trays, rugs, quilts, and needlework. Besides those craftsmen already mentioned, others represented are Ernestine Damm, Gertrude Steurer, Christine Drogseth, Sophie Hansen, Ben Johnson, The Steffansons, William MacReady, Emily Schaffert, George Sargent, Gretchen Smith, Doris Felton and Augusta Reed. The expert workmanship and original designs by Eleanor McCaffery are to be seen in her handsome trays.

McCarthy Exhibition
Woodstock, Nov. 29—Clarence J. McCarthy who is currently exhibiting 40 pictures, including oils, drawings and pastels, in the Sea Horse Gallery reports three sales so far as well as having received a portrait commission. The pictures purchased are "Sentinel on the River Bank," an oil, "Spiral Against Sky," pastel, and "Nude," drawing. The exhibition will continue daily until December 19 and

Christmas Street Decoration Group Meeting Tonight

A possible preview of the Christmas street decorations will be considered at a special meeting of the committee tonight. The work was completed today and the official opening is not scheduled until Friday. It has been suggested that the lights be turned on for about an hour either Tuesday or Wednesday nights for a preview by the committee and the public. James Rowe, chairman of the committee said, "This would give the committee an opportunity to check the decorations and make last minute adjustments."

This year the street lighting is the most extensive ever attempted. About two and one half miles of streets are decorated and lighted. Albert Kurat, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated today that "Every citizen will feel still more proud of our grand city when the street lights are turned on. It's worth telling others about them."

At the meeting of the Christmas Decorating Committee tonight the various canvassers will turn in funds collected. The drive is progressing fairly well but as yet there are not quite enough funds in to meet the obligations. Mrs. R. R. Gross, chairman of the Christmas Decorating Contest, suggested that all those who plan to enter this contest should make their entries early. Entries close December 15. Substantial cash awards of $75 for first place, $50 for second and $25 for third are being offered. Entries should be filed at the Chamber of Commerce office.

been received from other sources on the proposed removal of the trains and that the railroad could be expected to continue the trains for some time.

Sources in this city protested the reported intentions of the railroad to remove the trains, although no official report on the proposal had been made. Mayor Oscar W. Newkirk requested the commission to delay action pending hearing and a local Chamber of Commerce letter objected to removal of the trains.

The trains are designated as No. 2 and 3, on the timetable. The first leaves this city for New York shortly after 5 p. m., and the other arrives in the city from New York shortly after 10 p. m. It was learned unofficially that the trains were scheduled to be dropped by December 5.

Fog Cancels Sailing
Southampton, England, Nov. 29 (AP)—Fog today caused the sixth postponement of the luxury liner Queen Elizabeth's departure for New York. The giant ship has been idling here since Nov. 17 because of the United States delicate position and now because of the weather. All western European ships are blanketed in thick fog. Sixteen hundred passengers, most of whom have been on board since a week ago Saturday received the news of the delay with resignation. Visibility was less than 150 yards when Captain C. M. Ford announced the postponement. The next high tide on which the liner can get away will be at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

first time since the Japanese war. Gen. T. Li-Ming, acting government commander in the Su-chow area, told Easton a "decisive" battle for central China was about to begin.

Perhaps timed to coincide with the appeal for American aid, the Chinese government for the first time has allowed foreign correspondents to witness battlefield action. On conducted tours, they were shown evidence intended to prove that the Nationalists are far from beaten.

In Peiping, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi's North China headquarters announced government withdrawal from Shangkaiwan, seacoast town along the great wall and 165 miles northeast of Tientsin, and the nearby port of Chingwantao. Fu said the two isolated points had lost their strategic value.

Their contention is that his defeat is not been due to a lack of American equipment or even American advice but resulted rather from his failure to liberalize his government and provide a confidence-inspiring leadership for his people.

U.N. to Take Up Troop Withdrawal From Palestine

By EDWARD CURTIS
Paris, Nov. 29 (AP)—The United Nations Political Committee voted today to take up the question of withdrawal of foreign troops (Arab) and military personnel from Palestine.

The committee voted 22 to 16 to take up this provision contained in Polish and Russian resolutions. The United States and Britain joined Russia in voting for the proposal, six nations abstained from the vote.

The vote came after the Political Committee began what may be the final debate on Palestine at the present general assembly. It took up the plan prepared by a working group for discussions of the various resolutions and amendments that have been offered on the Holy Land.

Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand urged the committee to act quickly.

"The world is tired of hearing debates on this problem," he said. "It's time to get down to business."

A high diplomatic informant said "meanwhile" that Britain would not veto an application from Israel or any other nation for United Nations membership.

An Israeli source said Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok would hand Israel's application for U. N. membership to Secretary General Trygve Lie today, the anniversary of the 1947 General Assembly decision to partition the Holy Land.

The Israeli application first goes from Lie to the United Nations Security Council. Seven affirmative votes are needed for approval before the application can go to the assembly for action.

U. S. Delegate Benjamin Cohen at the same time told the second political committee during a discussion of the Security Council veto power that France, China, Britain, and the U. S. have agreed they will not use the veto on admission of new members. Any of the four and the Soviet Union have the veto power.

Russia has used 12 of her 28 vetoes to defeat membership applications approved by the majority.

"The use of the veto in this field has caused a grave injustice to a number of states fully qualified for membership in our organization," Cohen said.

The vetoed applications are from El Salvador, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Finland, Italy and Ceylon.
